

REICH-Kupplungen capable of ensuring continued full production

REICH, as a global company with long tradition, is able to continue full production at the Bochum headquarter.

REICH is pleased to report that there are presently no hindrances to its production or delivery capabilities. 'We tackle the current situation in a practical and reasonable way, enabling us to keep production running and to protect our employees to the best possible extent.' says Christian Reich, Managing Director of Dipl.- Ing. Herwarth Reich GmbH. Effective immediately, the production staff is working on two or three staggered shifts so as to avoid physical contact. With the consent of the Works Council, the administrative people are now working in the home office as far as practicable. REICH customers may thus benefit from our services as usual.

And even the procurement of materials for manufacturing our high-quality products is not a major issue these days given that REICH strategically collaborates with local suppliers and can resort to at least 2 suppliers for the product groups in question. This kind of approach is now paying off because long-distance supplies from overseas are eliminated. With the new logo 'Couplings made in Germany' and the slogan 'Located in Bochum', REICH now also delivers a visual statement of the company's commitment to its location since 1946 and will place even more emphasis on this advantage in the future.
